

Ethan Durand

Time Dedicated to the Project

I've spent 3-4 hours on Wednesday and Thursday to create and finalize the database schema.

Contribution to the Project Development Process

This will be how the app stores and organizes information, as well as keep track of the roles of users and thus their legal actions they can do in the app.

Demonstration of Applied Knowledge

I have almost finished the creation of an actual Chen's notation-based ER diagram from which I can start implementing with priority given to my partner working on the backend if they would like something specific finished earlier to start working with.

Reflection and Lessons Learned

I am feeling better about this project than I was initially as I have a better understanding of the way we will go about completing it.